

Charming DIY Yarn Snowman Door Hanger

MQ DE IN A DAY.COM

To me, bigger is better, so I decided to make my version of that snowman door hanger on a much larger scale. He's wrapped in fluffy white chunky yarn and has a sweet carrot nose for added charm.

I usually hang him up around the holidays and keep him around through February. With his rustic hat and burlap tie, this makes him a wonderful winter decoration for your front door or around your home. Let me show how I made him!

Supplies:

- Yarn
- 5-inch Burlap Ribbon
- Black Felt for Hat
- Foam Circles in 3 graduating sizes
- 3 Black Buttons for Body
- 2 Small Black Buttons for Eyes
- 1 Artificial Carrot (from Hobby Lobby)
- Cotton Balls
- Hot Glue & Gun

Instructions:

With the hot glue gun, glue on cotton balls to the front of each foam circle (see illustration for placement).

Hot glue the end of the yarn to the back of the center of foam and start wrapping the yarn outwards toward the edges. It can be tricky when you get close to the sides of the circles, just hot glue the yarn in place as you go. Repeat for the other side of the circle.

I wrapped the yarn over each foam circle twice to make sure I covered all the cotton and foam. Next layer the circles over one another and hot glue them together to make the body.

Make the Arms:

Cut two strips of the wired sisal vine. The arms & hands are bent shaped and twisted for strength. Push them into the foam and hot glue into place.

Make the Hat:

Using the hat template as a guide, trace and cut out the hat on the piece of black felt included with the kit.

For the Nose:

Using the glue gun, hot glue the small black buttons onto the face of the snowman. Then hot glue the faux carrot to the center of the snowman's face. Place the buttons on the body and hot glue into place.

For the Hanger:

Loop a small piece of twine and hot glue it to the back of the head to make a hanger. Tie the burlap ribbon around the neck and trim the ends diagonally and you are done!
